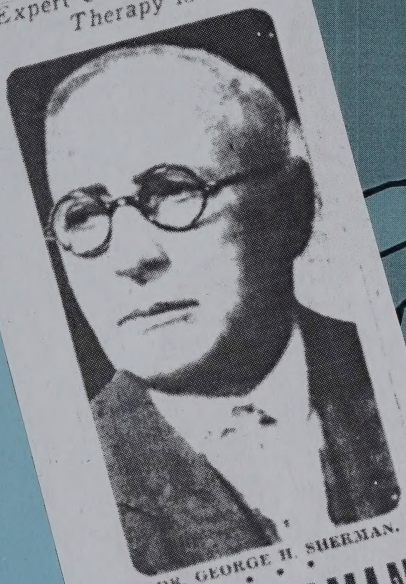
Expert on Vaccine Therapy is Dead



DR. GEORGE H. SHERMAN.

DR. SHERMAN DIES IN FLORIDA

Detroit Physician Was Pioneer in the Development of Vaccine Therapy.

Dr. George Henry Sherman, a pioneer in the development of vaccine therapy and in the manufacturing of bacterial vaccines, died Tuesday night in a Melbourne (Fla.) hospital where he underwent an operation for appendicitis six weeks ago. He was 74 years old.

Dr. and Mrs. Sherman had maintained a winter home at Palm Beach for 13 years. They were on a motor trip when he was stricken.

Dr. Sherman practiced medicine in Detroit for 29 years, relinquishing his practice in 1913 to concentrate his efforts on the manufacture of vaccines, immuiological research and writing of books, papers and articles on vaccine, therapy and immune reaction.

He began the manufacutre of vaccines in 1907 in a small laboratory at 419 St. Aubin avenue. In 1914 he erected the present Sherman Laboratory at 14600-14608 Jefferson avenue east.

GRADUATED IN 1883.

Dr. Sherman was born in Napoleon, O., a son of Andrew and Eva Walter Sherman. He supplemented his public school training with study in the University of Valparaiso, Valparaiso, Ind. He then began the study of medicine at Northwestern University, being graduated from the medical school there in 1883. The school then was known as Chicago Medical College.

He returned to Napoleon and opened an office there, but a short time later sought the broader opportunities that Detroit offered.

When diphtheria antitoxin was discovered, Dr. Sherman became interested in its use and was one of the first physicians to use the antitoxin in the city. His interest in vaccines mounted steadily until eventually he gave over his entire activity to that field.

Dr. Sherman attracted some attention in politics as a follower of the socialist philosophy, and in 1892 was a candidate for Governor of Michigan on the People's Party ticket. He was formerly a member of the executive committee of the National and State Direct Legislation League, and a member of the executive committee of the Public Ownership League of America.

MEMBER OF MANY SOCIETIES.

Dr. Sherman was a member of the Wayne County, Michigan State and American Medical Associations, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Association for the Study of Internal Secretions, the American Congress on Internal Medicine, the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America, the American Public Health Association, the American Association, the American Society of Bacteriology, and the Detroit Board of Commerce.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Emilie Sherman; a son, Arthur G. Sherman, of Detroit; three daughters, Mrs. Clarence G. Wehrly and Mrs. Alexander M. Rovin, of Detroit, and Mrs. Edgar O. Marty, of Pottsville, Pa., and a sister, Mrs. Nellie Saalfeld, of Detroit.

Funeral services will be held in

Aloha Medical Mission fills an 'astounding need'

Star-Bulletin • Friday, December 16, 1994 □ A-5

BY LINDA HOSEK
Star-Bulletin

Local ophthalmologist Dr. Jorge Camara treated hundreds of needy patients during a recent trip to Asia for the Aloha Medical Mission.

But Agnes is the one who sticks out in his mind.

Agnes is an 11½-year-old girl from Ilagan City in Isabela in the Philippines.

Her right eye had ruptured and a bulging layer of scar tissue had grown over it.

"Other kids were scared of her because her eye was so disfigured," Camara said Wednesday at a conference to discuss the organization's largest mission since it began in 1982.

Camara removed the damaged eye and inserted an implant, relieving Agnes' pain. After one more procedure, she will look pretty much like a normal kid.

Agnes was one of more than 11,000 residents who received care from the mission's team, which included 75 doctors, 19 nurses and 24 lay personnel. All members pay their own way.

They visited three cities in the Philippines and two in Vietnam, performing more than 700 surgeries to restore eyesight, repair disfigured faces or remove tumors.

"The need is astounding," Camara said. "We leave behind equipment so that the local physicians can carry on."

Camara said Asian doctors selected the patients based on their conditions and financial need, potentially excluding those who could afford care.

Doctors worked in marginal settings, occasionally relying on flashlights during surgery. They also would put two patients in one operating room, said Dr. Ramon Sy, mission president.

Patients got bare-bones care. Instead of the extensive preparation that occurs in U.S. hospitals, the mission's patients went from the waiting room to the operating table, remaining in their street clothes, Camara said.

The mission has grown from eight volunteers to more than 400 in 11 years. It raises money from the community for equipment and supplies, which the volunteers transport.

Dr. Craig Thomas, an emergency room doctor and volunteer, also had a patient he thinks about. But she's someone the mission couldn't help.

The patient, Violetta, had an enormous facial tumor that doubled the size of her face. If she had lived in the United States, it would have been removed 15 years ago, he said.

But Thomas had to tell the 31-year-old woman with a beautiful daughter that her tumor was too big and would take too many surgeries to remove. The mission stays only a short time and usually goes to different cities.

"I remember more vividly the patients we can't change," he said.
